1. Applicant paper filed on 11/13/2006 has been received and entered. To clarify claims 1-6 have been cancelled, and claims 7-10 have been added in the preliminary amendment filed on 12/29/2005 is acknowledge. Claims 7-10 are pending in the application for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 7-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

The claims are directed to a judicial exception; as such, pursuant to the Interim Guidelines on Patent Eligible Subject Matter (MPEP 2106), the claims must have either physical transformation and/or a useful, concrete and tangible result. The claims fail to include transformation from one physical state to another. Although, the claims appear useful and concrete, there does not appear to be tangible result claimed. Merely recite tapping, inserting, evaluating and determining steps would not appear to be sufficient to constitute a tangible result, since the outcome of these steps has not been used in a disclosed practical application nor made available in such a manner that its usefulness in a disclosed practical application can be realized. As such, the subject matter of the claims is not patent eligible. Further, the tangible result of function performed, such as the presenting/outputting of the result for use in the practical application should be provided and the result of this is conveyed to the useful manner. Noted that it does not matter how many tangible intermediate manipulations are undertaken in the method, but rather whether the final result of the method is concrete, useful and tangible. The final result is conveyed in a useful manner (for example in last step: outputting or presenting a corresponding resonance to the determined Q-factor of the vibration gyro).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 7-10 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 101 as set forth in this Office action.
4. In combination with other limitations of the claim, the prior art of record fails to teach or suggest the combination of the evaluating and determining the Q-factor.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
